

Household Goods Moving Services

“Trust us to take the stress out of moving.”

Introduction

Whether you're moving to a home in another city and state, to one across town, or anywhere around the world, you need a moving company with decades of experience moving families like yours. You need Alexander's Mobility Services, a local and long distance mover, serving clients nationwide for 61 years.

A move involves much more than transporting your home's furnishings and personal effects. We bring the technology, equipment, and know-how to make moving easier for you, which is why thousands of families have entrusted our packers and movers to take them home.

Service Program Overview

It's not unusual to feel anxious when you move. With Alexander's, you get experienced people to help you. The Alexander's team of moving specialists works together with you to plan, manage and execute your move without the needless worry and anxiety often associated with other movers.

From the initial move consultation and pre-move survey to the day we deliver and place the last box and piece of furniture, your customer service representative is available to answer your questions and monitor every phase of your move.
